AUSBILDUNGSBESCHREIBUNG

Lehrinhalte und Berufsfelder:

The MA program International Public Affairs captures two dimensions: on the one hand, the international, which includes governance on the regional, global and transnational levels; and on the other hand, the public, which includes interaction among the government, private and the voluntary sector. After the first term of compulsory courses in public policy, politics, economics, and international relations, IPA students must choose one of two specializations for the next three terms of their MA: 1) Democracy and Rule of Law or 2) Policy and Governance. The final two terms of the second year are devoted to a mandatory thesis.

Spezialisierungen

- Democracy and Rule of Law
- Policy and Governance
